

Public law

Examination on the international humanitarian law in true or false format:

1. International humanitarian law only applies during international armed conflicts.
2. Civilians can never be targeted in armed conflict.
3. Torture is always prohibited under international humanitarian law.
4. Belligerent reprisals are always lawful under IHL.
5. Starvation of the civilian population as a method of warfare is prohibited.
6. The Geneva Conventions have been universally ratified.
7. Customary international humanitarian law is not binding.
8. The International Committee of the Red Cross (ICRC) is a judicial body that prosecutes war crimes.
9. Targeted killings are always lawful under IHL.
10. Refugees are not protected by international humanitarian law.